Higher Education Emergency Relief Fund – Student Aid

The Higher Education Emergency Relief Fund-IHE/Student Aid provides funding to institutions to provide emergency financial aid grants to students whose lives have been disrupted, many of whom are facing financial challenges and struggling to make ends meet.

The University of North Texas (UNT) received an allocation from the Higher Education Emergency Relief Fund (HEERF) to make emergency grants available to students. UNT follows all guidelines provided by the U.S. Department of Education in awarding and disbursing grants to students. - UNT followed the guidelines provided by the Department of Education in administering the awarding and disbursement of funds to students. The institution established a team of staff from Student Affairs, Student Financial Aid and Scholarships, and Student Financial Services (Student Accounting) to manage the communications, requests, awarding, and processing of emergency financial aid grants.

An application was established to capture basic information, including why the student was requesting funds and how the funds would be used to ensure their success at UNT. Each application was reviewed to ensure eligibility according to the Department of Education guidelines to confirm the student expressed need. UNT has ensured the application, awarding, and processing allowed for the prioritization of students with exceptional financial need and also to award Emergency Financial Aid Grants to as many students as possible.

Effective for the Fall 2021 semester, UNT utilized a tiered amount structure to further ensure that HEERF funding was prioritized for those with the most exceptional need. UNT utilized the official Expected Family Contribution (EFC) as calculated through the financial aid application process for the current financial aid year. In addition, students who submitted the TASFA (Texas Application for State Financial Aid) were awarded using the same need methodology.

HEERF award amounts were allocated to students as follows:

Expected Family Contribution Range	HEERF Award (per student)
$0 - $5,846	$750 per semester
Greater than $5,846, or no aid application on file	$500 per semester

- All enrolled students were notified of the availability of grants by an official email from the University President on April 15, 2020 (<https://www.unt.edu/notices/help-so-you-can-succeed-message-president>).
